WELCOME

Dear Valued Employee,

Welcome to GOODProjects! We are pleased with your decision to join our team.

GOODProjects is committed to providing superior quality and unparalleled customer service in all aspects of our business. We believe each employee contributes to the success and growth of our organization.

This employee handbook contains general information on our policies, practices, and benefits. Please read it carefully. If you have questions regarding the handbook, please discuss them with your supervisor or Human Resources.

Welcome aboard. We look forward to working with you!

Sincerely,

Darius Baxter

Chief Engagement Officer

ABOUT GOODPROJECTS

GOODProjects was founded in 2016. The founders Troye, Daniel, and Darius started the organization in Washington, D.C. at the end of their undergraduate college tenure at Georgetown University. As native Washingtonians who grew up in underprivileged circumstances, they believed it was their calling to use their experience living in the community, working in the community, and navigating out of that community toward success, to help others do the same. GOODProjects's first program was GOODCamps, which aimed to combat a 54% spike in gun violence in the summer of 2015.

After five-weeks of serving the most at-risk youth at Anacostia high school, there were no gun related crimes in ANC 8A, where GOODCamps were held. This led GOODProjects to dive into the juvenile justice space in partnership with the Department of Youth Rehabilitation Services. From there, GOODProjects became a staple in the D.C. community, assisting youth and their families in living a fulfilling life free from poverty and violence while incorporating health and wellness.

In 2019, GOODProjects launched the organization's strategic mission—The GOODZones Initiative—to end poverty on a block-by-block, household-by-household basis by acting as the community quarterback for government funded housing communities and investing human, social, and economic capital in those communities.

What are the GOODZones?

GOODZones was formulated by GOODProjects founders, Troye Bullock, Daniel Wright, and Darius Baxter, and with consultation from the nationally recognized Ford Foundation, in alignment with the 2017 U.S. Department of Treasury legislation, Opportunity Zones. GOODZones are impoverished neighborhoods (on government assistance) in which GOODProjects guides families on a pathway to self-sufficiency above the poverty line by completing needs assessments through natural community engagement, developing individualized success plans for each household, deploying household success managers, and aiding wealth creation and prosperity for each family. As the guide or “community quarterback,” GOODProjects works with dozens of organizations that do GOOD work to implement their services in collaboration with GOODProjects's focus on housing, education, youth development, wealth building, and community culture development.

Purpose of Our Handbook

This employee handbook (the “Handbook”) is designed to help you to familiarize yourself with important information about GOODProjects and set forth the basic standards of conduct, as well as the policies, procedures, and benefits that apply to all employees of GOODProjects. As such, the Handbook is meant to provide guiding principles of behavior, as well as information on organizational practices.

It is not possible to anticipate every situation that may arise in our workplace or to provide information that answers every possible question. Future circumstances may require changes and/or updates in the policies, practices, and benefits described in this Handbook. Accordingly, GOODProjects reserves the right to modify, rescind, supplement, or revise any provision in this Handbook at any time.

The Handbook is not a contract of employment and does not create any express or implied promises or guarantee any fixed terms of employment.

Nor does the Handbook alter the “employment at will” relationship (see below) in any way. No supervisor or other representative of GOODProjects (except the Chief Engagement Officer) has the authority to enter into any agreement for employment for any specified period of time.

Please take the time now to read this Handbook carefully. Sign the acknowledgment at the end to show that you have read, understood, and agree to the contents of this Handbook, which sets out rules and guidelines concerning your employment. This Handbook supersedes any previously issued handbooks or policy statements dealing with the subjects discussed herein.

All policies and procedures are available in the GOODProjects employee accessible shared drive. Any question regarding the contents of the Handbook may be addressed to Human Resources.

At-Will Employment

GOODProjects is an at-will employer and reserves the right to terminate any individual’s employment at any time. Employment with GOODProjects is not for any specified period and can be terminated by either the employee or GOODProjects at any time with or without advance notice, subject to applicable state, local, and federal law. Likewise, GOODProjects respects your right to leave at any time, with or without notice. Nothing contained in these policies is intended to, or should be construed to, alter the at-will relationship between GOODProjects and its employees.

Nothing in this Handbook or any other GOODProjects document should be understood as creating a contract, guaranteed or continued employment, a right to termination only “for cause,” or any other guarantee of continued benefits or employment. Only the Chief Engagement Officer has the authority to make promises or negotiate with regard to guaranteed or continued employment, and any such promises are only effective if placed in writing and signed by the Chief Engagement Officer.

If a written contract between you and GOODProjects is inconsistent with this Handbook, the written contract is controlling.

WHAT WE BELIEVE IN

Outcome-Driven: Everything we do at GOODProjects has a purpose. Every task, assignment, and project that our employees work on is for a reason: to see results. The road to success for self and for the families we serve is NOT easy. Be prepared to take on the world and create observable and impactful results. Whether you are working with a family in need or in an administrative role, you should be result- and outcome -focused. If what you are working on and toward is not outcome-oriented, then you should not be doing it.

Growth Mindset: Every person does not start in the same place and every person does not end in the same place. Here at GOODProjects, we understand this. Our goal is for each employee and individual who engages in GOODProjects services to be provided the space and guidance to finish better than they started. Our focus should never be where we are, but rather, where we are going together. Every day should be focused on self-growth and growing those we serve. If we continue to have a growth mindset daily, we as individuals will reach prosperity and those we serve will as well.

Be Your Best Self: It is required that all parents, youth, and staff show up to the best of their abilities, as the best version of themselves. Before entering any environment associated with GOODProjects, it is imperative that everyone leaves behind negative thoughts and ideas to get the best results and the best experience.

Know Your Purpose: No matter what part you play at GOODProjects, your work and your efforts go toward ENDING POVERTY. Every second and minute that you work for this organization, you are assisting in guiding a family out of poverty and into a place of happiness and fulfillment. It is easy to get lost in projects, tasks, and checklists, but at the end of the day, remind yourself of why you are here in the first place.

Take Initiative, Be A Leader, Be Ambitious: At GOODProjects, we are creating the next generation of leaders and entrepreneurs. To be an effective employee who creates lasting impact for those we serve, we must take initiative in everything we do. To become a future leader, one must lead now. To create generational change and make statements like “we will end poverty for 500 families,” one must be ambitious. Sitting back on the sidelines and watching won’t win the game, and it will not take families out of poverty. The time is now, and you are the person to do it. Don’t be afraid to be disruptive when necessary to achieve your and GOODProjects’s goals.

Get the Job Done: Taking initiative and being a leader means seeing things through. Whether it is a big project, meeting a tough deadline, or just going to scan something in a timely manner – Get the Job Done. To change the world, we must see each task through no matter how big or small, until it is finished, and it is our best work.

Work Hard, Win More: The harder we work together, the more we win and achieve together. To see the success we want to see, we must work. By not working on ourselves, we allow others to determine our fate. No sacrifice, no reward. Seize the day.

Be A Team Player: As an employee at GOODProjects, you become a family member. As a member of the family, we support and uplift each other. No one person is bigger or more important than the organization. No task is too big or too small for anyone. We do what is best for the team no matter what it is. As colleagues and professionals, we do what is best for our team and therefore the communities that we serve.

Have Fun: Although it is an environment focused on growth, change, learning, and outcomes, we love to have fun. Have a GOOD time. Go to happy hour. Take vacation and go to Mexico. Bring GOOD vibes to the office. Be your authentic self!

COMMITMENT TO DIVERSITY

Equal Employment Opportunity (“EEO Policy”)

GOODProjects strictly prohibits discrimination against any employee or job candidate because of their race, sex, class, color, gender, religion, national origin (including ancestry), age, pregnancy (including childbirth, lactation, or related medical conditions), sexual orientation, disability (physical or mental), personal appearance, gender identity or expression (including an individual’s actual or perceived gender-related characteristics or transgender status), marital status, domestic partnership status, genetic predisposition (including genetic characteristics), career status, reproductive health decisions, caregiver status, domestic violence victim status (including status as a family member of a victim of domestic violence), familial status (including family responsibilities), source of income, matriculation, political affiliation, military status, criminal background, or any other characteristic protected under federal or District of Columbia law. The EEO Policy applies to all GOODProjects activities including, but not limited to, recruitment, hiring, compensation, assignment, training, promotion, discipline, and termination of employment. The EEO Policy also bans harassment on the basis of protected characteristics (see Anti-Harassment below).

As a leader in solving social issues and providing opportunities for all, diversity and inclusion matters at GOODProjects. We want to employ the most impactful leaders and staff. To meet this goal, we must have a workplace where differences are appreciated and respected. GOODProjects prides itself in providing opportunities for all that are equal and available to anyone.

GOODProjects will provide reasonable accommodations consistent with the law to otherwise qualified employees and prospective employees with a disability and to employees or prospective employees with needs related to their religious observances or practices, to the extent that such reasonable accommodations can be provided without imposing undue hardship to GOODProjects or disruption to GOODProjects operations. What constitutes a reasonable accommodation depends on the circumstances, and thus, will be addressed by GOODProjects on a case-by-case basis.

We are all responsible for upholding the EEO Policy. You may discuss questions regarding equal employment opportunity with your supervisor, Human Resources, or any other member of management.

Anti-Harassment

GOODProjects is committed to providing a work environment that is free from harassment. GOODProjects prohibits conduct that constitutes or could lead or contribute to harassment based on any of the protected characteristics articulated under the EEO Policy above or otherwise protected by federal or District of Columbia law. Examples include:

- Offensive, disparaging, or abusive language, bullying, and slurs, verbally or in writing, that relate to the above protected categories;
- A display of symbols, slogans, or items that are associated with hate or intolerance toward any of the above protected categories.
- Threatening, intimidating, or hostile acts directed at a particular individual based on their membership in a protected category (race, gender, sex, etc.) and/or;
- Engaging in prohibited conduct via electronic means, including via Internet, intranet, social media, or email system and viewing or distributing offensive material toward any of the above protected categories.

Harassment does not require and is not defined as intent to offend. Thus, inappropriate conduct meant as a joke, prank, or compliment can lead or contribute to harassment and is prohibited. All employees, supervisors, and managing personnel are expected and required to abide by this policy. No person will be adversely affected in employment with GOODProjects for making complaints of alleged harassment.

Sexual Harassment Prevention

GOODProjects is committed to providing a safe work environment free from discrimination and harassment of any kind, including sexual harassment. Sexual harassment is behavior of a sexual nature that is unwelcome and offensive to the person or persons to whom it is targeted. Sexual harassment includes harassment on the basis of sex, sexual orientation, self-identified or perceived sex, gender expression, gender identity, and the status of being transgender. Sexual harassment is unlawful and a specific type of discriminatory harassment under federal and District of Columbia law.

Although it is not possible to identify every act that constitutes sexually harassing behavior, the following are some examples:

- Physical contact including patting, pinching, stroking, kissing, hugging, fooling, or inappropriate touching;
- Repeated or unwanted social invitations on dates or physical activity;
- Physical violence, including sexual assault;
- Use of job-related threats or rewards to solicit sexual favors;
- Commenting on a worker's appearance;
- Foul language of an offensive sexual nature;
- Insults based on the sex of the worker;
- Sexual propositions;
- Sexual jokes or remarks;
- Whistling;
- Obscene gestures;
- Displays of pornographic or sexually explicit pictures, drawings, videos, or caricatures; and
- Use of GOODProjects's computer system for the purposes of viewing, displaying, or disseminating material that is sexual in nature.

All employees should refrain from any conduct that could be considered sexual harassment. This Policy applies not only to behaviors in the workplace itself, but to all conduct involving colleagues or co-workers, whether that occurs while employees are traveling for business or at employer-sponsored events or parties. Calls, texts, emails, and social media usage by employees can constitute workplace harassment, even if they occur away from the workplace premises or outside of work hours.

This policy applies to all employees, applicants for employment, interns (paid or unpaid), as well as contractors, subcontractors, vendors, consultants, or anyone providing services pursuant to a contract with GOODProjects.

GOODProjects has a zero-tolerance policy for any form of sexual harassment in the workplace. Preventing sexual harassment is everyone's responsibility. GOODProjects cannot prevent or remedy sexual harassment unless we know about it. Reports of sexual harassment may be made verbally or in writing. Anyone who believes he or she has been subjected to sexual harassment should inform his or her supervisor, Human Resources, or any other member of management. Managers and supervisors are required to report any sexual harassment complaint that they receive and any sexual harassment that they observe to their supervisor or Human Resources.

GOODProjects treats all incidents seriously and promptly investigates all allegations of sexual harassment. Any person found to have engaged in sexual harassment will face disciplinary action, up to and including termination of employment. All complaints of sexual harassment will be treated seriously and handled with respect and kept confidential to the extent possible. No one will be retaliated against for making a complaint.

Anyone can be a victim of sexual harassment, regardless of his or her sex or gender and the sex or gender of the alleged harasser. Sexual harassment can occur between people of the same sex or gender. What matters is whether there has been sexual conduct or conduct based on sex that is unwelcome by, and offensive to, the person to whom it is directed.

Safety Accommodations and Protections for Victims of Stalking, Domestic Violence, or Sexual Abuse

In accordance with the D.C. Accrued Sick and Safe Leave Act, employees may use up to three days of accrued sick leave if they are or their family member is a victim of stalking, domestic violence, or sexual abuse, provided that the absence is directly related to social or legal services pertaining to the stalking, domestic violence, or sexual abuse, to:

- Seek medical attention for themselves or their family member to recover from physical or psychological injury or disability caused by domestic violence or sexual abuse;
- Obtain services from a victim services organization;
- Obtain psychological or other counseling;
- Temporarily or permanently relocate;
- Take legal action, including preparing for or participating in any civil or criminal legal proceeding related to or resulting from the domestic violence or sexual abuse; or

- Take other actions to enhance the physical, psychological, or economic health or safety of them or their family member or to enhance the safety of those who associate or work with them.

GOODProjects will also provide reasonable safety accommodations for employees who are the victim or family member of a victim of stalking, domestic violence, or sexual abuse when such accommodation is necessary to ensure that person's security and safety, unless providing the accommodation would impose an undue hardship on GOODProjects's business operations.

GOODProjects will maintain the confidentiality of all information that is provided by the employee and related to an employee's status as a victim or family member of a victim of stalking, domestic violence, or sexual abuse to the extent it is feasible to do so. GOODProjects will not disclose such information unless it is:

- Requested or voluntarily authorized in writing by the employee;
- Ordered by a court or administrative agency or otherwise required by applicable federal or state law;
- Provided to a law enforcement agency;
- Necessary to protect others from imminent harm; or
- Necessary to provide a reasonable accommodation for the victim (and then, only to the extent necessary).

GOODProjects will notify the employee in the event of a disclosure made for one of the reasons described above.

Regular full-time and part-time employees are entitled to the leave benefits described in this section. Employees who work less than 40 hours per week will receive leave benefits on a prorated basis. Temporary employees who have completed 90 days of service with GOODProjects are also eligible for leave benefits described in this section.

Family members include an employee's spouse, children, grandchildren, foster children and foster grandchildren, siblings, spouses of siblings, parents, parents of a spouse, spouses of children, grandparents, and domestic partners. Also included are those with whom the employee maintains a committed relationship and with whom the employee has lived for a minimum of 12 months.

Procedures for Reporting Complaints

If an employee feels that he or she has been harassed or discriminated against in any way or notices any unusual behaviors within GOODProjects, he or she should report it to his or her direct supervisor, Human Resources, or any other member of management. There is no specific way the complaint needs to be reported. Verbal, written, or handwritten is acceptable. Once the matter has been reported, it will be promptly investigated, and any necessary corrective action will be taken where appropriate. All complaints of unlawful harassment will be handled in the most discreet and confidential manner possible. GOODProjects prohibits retaliation against employees who provide information about, complain about, or assist in the investigation of any complaint of discrimination or violation of the EEO Policy.

Anti-Retaliation

GOODProjects prohibits retaliation against employees who provide information about, complain about, or assist in the investigation of any complaint of harassment or discrimination. GOODProjects will not take an adverse employment action or otherwise retaliate against any person for reporting in good faith an incident of suspected harassment or discrimination, providing information about an incident of suspected harassment or discrimination, or otherwise assisting in an investigation of a harassment or discrimination complaint. Anyone who retaliates against another individual for having participated in a discrimination or harassment investigation will be subjected to disciplinary action, up to and including termination of employment. GOODProjects prohibits retaliation against an employee who engages in “protected activity,” which occurs when an employee has:

- Filed a formal complaint of discrimination or harassment either internally with GOODProjects or externally with an administrative agency or a court of law;
- Testified or assisted in an administrative or court proceeding involving discrimination harassment;
- Opposed discrimination or harassment by making a verbal or informal complaint to management or by informing a supervisor or manager of discrimination or harassment;
- Complained that another employee has been discriminated against or harassed; or
- Encouraged a fellow employee to report discrimination or harassment.

GOODProjects’s anti-retaliation policy is not intended to protect persons making intentionally false charges of discrimination or harassment.

Lactation Accommodation

GOODProjects will provide reasonable daily breaks to accommodate an employee desiring to express breast milk for the employee's child. Nursing mothers who are nonexempt employees should take time to express breast milk during their regular meal and/or rest breaks, to the extent it is feasible to do so. If the break time cannot run concurrently with the meal and/or rest breaks already provided to the employee, the break time will be unpaid for nonexempt employees. Where these additional breaks are required, employees should work with their supervisor regarding scheduling.

We will make reasonable efforts to provide employees with the use of a private, secure, and sanitary room near the work area, other than a bathroom or toilet stall, for employees to express milk. To the extent that employees have concerns regarding the location to express their breast milk and for storage of expressed milk and, to make any other arrangements under this policy, employees may discuss with their supervisor or a Human Resources representative. GOODProjects reserves the right to not provide additional break time or a private location for expressing breast milk if doing so would create an undue hardship for GOODProjects's operations.

GOODProjects strictly prohibits discrimination against or harassment of employees because they are breastfeeding mothers and/or request or take breaks in accordance with this policy.

Employees who have questions about this policy or who wish to request a reasonable accommodation under this policy should contact their supervisor or Human Resources representative.

WORKING WITH GOODPROJECTS

GOODProjects complies with all federal, state, and local labor, health, and safety standards, laws, and regulations.

Personnel Files

Employees are expected to inform their supervisor or Human Resources representative immediately whenever there are changes in their personal data, such as address, telephone number, and emergency contact information. Personnel files are property of GOODProjects.

Employee Classifications

Employees are classified as full-time, part-time, or temporary. These classifications determine eligibility for benefits. An employee's classification will not be changed due to a temporary change in work-schedule.

Regular Full-Time, Employee (benefits eligible): A salaried or hourly employee normally scheduled to work thirty (30) hours or more per work week and whose employment has no specified end date. Full-time employees are eligible for all employer-sponsored benefits.

Regular Part Time Employee, less than 30 hours per week (not benefits eligible): A salaried or hourly employee normally scheduled to work fewer than 30 hours per week. Part-time employees are not eligible for benefits.

Temporary or Seasonal Employee: An employee hired on a full or part time basis for a short-term or project basis, usually not to exceed six (6) months. For purposes of this Handbook, the phrase "full-time employee" does not include a temporary employee. Temporary employees are not eligible for benefits.

Position Descriptions

GOODProjects maintains written job descriptions for all positions. Employees are responsible for knowing what is detailed in their job description. Employees and managers should review their job descriptions at least annually, and when their job responsibilities have changed. Employee may be asked to temporarily do other duties not set forth in their job descriptions. Please discuss any questions you have about your job description with your supervisor or Human Resources.

Work Schedules

GOODProjects full-time employees are expected to work the number of hours agreed on at the time of hire. Core business hours are between 8:00am to 6:30pm Monday through Friday. Other work arrangements may be made between the employee and their supervisors. Employees are expected to clock in and out for their shifts adhering to their assigned work schedule. Failure to do so could result in disciplinary action up to and including termination.

Hybrid Work Schedules

Positions not directly supporting the Youth may be granted a hybrid work schedule. A hybrid schedule consists of a work schedule that is partially onsite and partially remote. Hybrid work schedules should be approved by the Chief Engagement Officer prior to being granted. It is the expectation that employees who are working at home must be available during the core working hours, as if they were in person. At the discretion of the CEO, who shall take into account the effects of the COVID-19 pandemic, employees not meeting these expectations may have this privilege revoked and may be required to be in person until further review.

Dress Code

GOODProjects expects employees to dress appropriately in casual attire. This policy does not differentiate based upon an employee's sex or gender. The GOODProjects uniform is an issued GOOD shirt or sweatshirt and black or basic blue jeans.

All administrative and programmatic employees are required to wear the GOODProjects uniform inside of the Learning Hub or at any team functions. The dress code is business casual for management and corporate positions at any relevant external events.

When wearing pants or jeans:

- no holes, distresses, logos larger than 4" or patches
- no Lycra or leather material
- solid color without fade or too much acid-wash in a business casual look

When wearing shorts or skirts:

- no holes, distresses, logos large than 4" or patches
- no Lycra or leather material
- no denim, jeans, or stretch fabrics
- no low rise pants
- no decorative belts, trim or studs
- no torn excessively baggy, tight or faded
- Solid black or red knee length shorts

Staff may also wear an all black shirt (sweater, hoodie, polo) with no writing. From time to time employees will be provided seasonal shirts with logos and seasonal promotions.

The company promotes workers to be more creative and original within the parameters established in the uniform policy. Visible tattoos, facial piercings, and unnatural hair colors are permitted.

Footwear at GOODProjects:

GOODProjects encourages all employees to wear sensible shoes while working. No flip-flops, sandals, Crocs, excessively-designed footwear, nor open-toed or open-backed shoes are allowed. Comfortable shoes are a GOOD idea.

What NOT to wear at work at GOODProjects:

- Above knee length shorts
- Tank tops
- Halter tops
- Flip flops
- Open-toed or backed shoes
- Lycra or leather pants
- Sheer or revealing clothing (e.g., bare midriffs, short miniskirts)

Flex Days

GOODProjects may designate flex days for full-time employees in which the employee can work from home or outside of the normal office setting. In-person meetings scheduled on flex days should be attended in person just as any other normal workday. Employees must request written approval from the Chief Engagement Officer to arrange use of flex days.

Overtime

Nonexempt employees required to work more than 40 hours in a workweek will be paid at one and one-half (1.5) times their regular rate of pay for all hours worked more than 40 in a workweek and as otherwise required by applicable District of Columbia and federal laws. Holidays, vacation days, and sick leave days do not count as time worked for computing overtime. To the extent possible, all overtime work should be authorized in advance, in writing, by the employee's supervisor. Regardless of whether advance authorization is obtained, nonexempt employees will be paid time-and-a-half for all overtime hours worked.

Fundraising Fridays

As a nonprofit trying to end poverty, we consider each staff member as a representative of our employee brand and marketing. Fridays at GOODProjects may be dedicated to making fundraising calls to individuals to get them to take part in our $5.00 monthly giving campaigns, purchase gala tickets, and make large donations toward GOODCamp and/or GOODZones. Fundraising Fridays will also encompass meetings reviewing fundraising goals and statistics.

Outside Employment

Employees who work in the District of Columbia may be simultaneously employed by another person or entity during their employment with GOODProjects, may perform work or provide services for pay for another person or entity during their employment and may operate their own business during their employment with GOODProjects (all together referred to as “secondary employment”). GOODProjects employees who work in the District of Columbia must disclose any secondary employment to GOODProjects. In the event GOODProjects has questions about whether the secondary employment presents a conflict of interest, including the likely use or disclosure of GOODProjects's confidential, proprietary, or sensitive information (including GOODProjects lists or trade secrets), GOODProjects will follow up with the employee as may be appropriate. Outside employment that creates a conflict of interest or that affects the quality or value of your work performance or availability at GOODProjects is prohibited. In all cases, GOODProjects expects that any outside employment will not affect your attendance, job performance, productivity, work hours, or scheduling, otherwise adversely affect your ability to effectively perform your duties, or in any way create a conflict of interest. Failure to adhere to this policy may result in discipline, up to and including termination of employment.

Timesheets

We comply with all applicable District of Columbia and federal laws that require records to be maintained of hours worked. Timesheets should be completed accurately by nonexempt employees. Exempt employees may also be required to record their time worked and report absences from work for reasons such as leaves of absence, sick leave, or personal business.

In addition to recording arrival and departure time, nonexempt employees are required to accurately record the start and end of each meal period as well as any departure for non-work-related reasons. Any errors in time records must be immediately reported to your supervisor or Human Resources representative.

Working “off-the-clock” is strictly prohibited. GOODProjects strictly prohibits non-exempt employees from working off the clock for any reason. All time spent working must be logged and accounted for; this includes time spent using electronic devices for work-related purposes. If an employee believes that he or she has not received correct pay, or that his or her time records or payroll records are inaccurate, or that these records do not correctly set forth the hours which the employee worked, or the compensation to which the employee is entitled, the employee should immediately bring this to the attention of his or her supervisor and Human Resources. Any evidence of time fraud will result in disciplinary action up to termination.

Vacation days, sick days, holidays, and absences for jury duty, funeral leave, or military training must be specifically recorded by all employees.

It is the responsibility of all employees to submit and approve their time records each week using the ADP Time and Attendance system.

Altering, falsifying, or tampering with time records, or recording time on another employee's time record, may result in disciplinary action up to and including termination of employment.

Punctuality and Attendance

Employees who are unable to report for work for any reason must notify their immediate supervisor and Human Resources within twenty four (24) hours of their regularly scheduled starting time, absent an emergency that prohibits such notification. Frequent lateness or excessive absenteeism may result in disciplinary action, which may lead to termination. GOODProjects reserves the right to require a doctor's note for absence due to illness where the employee will be absent for more than three (3) days. Failure to appear at work without notifying your supervisor is considered personal absence without pay. Any employee who is absent for three (3) working days without notifying GOODProjects or without good cause may be deemed to have abandoned his or her job.

Professional Development

GOODProjects is a capacity-building organization. GOODProjects will provide various trainings beginning with trainings outlined in the policies of this manual. GOODProjects will also hold and/or provide resources for trainings and workshops that tend to the professional needs of employees based on their employee evaluations. Employees can submit training requests to their supervisors to be considered. Job-related trainings conducted during regular work hours are considered working time and will be compensated. Employees who complete external trainings or degree programs will have these considered during annual reviews.

Employee Reviews

Employee reviews are continuous. GOODProjects holds all employees to a high standard and values ongoing feedback. GOODProjects believes in the accountability and affirmation that a periodic review can provide. Supervisors and employees will meet every other month to collaborate and discuss topics including but not limited to attendance records, productivity within given scope of work, initiative, and improvement since the last discussion. (See GOODPerformance Continuous Feedback Program.)

During the continuous feedback process, employees can provide input to their supervisors on the organization as whole. Employees may use this time to discuss their overall goals, roles and responsibilities, workflows, and work environment, or any other job-related topic they would like to discuss openly with their supervisor.

Contact with the Media

To ensure that GOODProjects communicates with the media in a consistent, timely, and professional manner about matters related to GOODProjects, employees should inform the Chief Engagement Officer that they have been contacted by the media whenever they are asked to speak on behalf of GOODProjects so that GOODProjects knows that a media inquiry has been made. Do not respond to media inquiries on GOODProjects's behalf without authorization. This rule does not prevent employees from speaking with the media, but they should not attempt to speak on behalf of GOODProjects unless they have specifically been authorized to do so by an officer of GOODProjects.

If you have any questions about this policy or are not certain what to do when such a contact is made, contact your supervisor or Human Resources.

Workplace Conduct

Within the workplace, GOODProjects employees will treat each other professionally and ethically. Each person will be treated with dignity and respect. Employees will comply with GOODProjects policies and procedures, and all federal and District of Columbia, labor, health and safety standards, laws, and regulations.

Employee behavior outside of work may affect the reputation of GOODProjects and be detrimental to funding and community relations. Any misconduct or egregious behavior outside of the workplace which may negatively impact the organization will be reviewed and may result in termination.

Failure to comply with GOODProjects standards could result in termination. Examples of conduct that may require disciplinary action include, but are not limited to, any of the following:

- Insubordination
- Substandard job performance
- Failure to carry out job responsibilities
- Being absent from work without prior notification to supervisor
- Safety violations
- Excessive tardiness or absenteeism
- Rudeness or discourtesy toward a fellow employee, supervisor, volunteer, supporter, or member of the general public
- Breach of confidentiality
- Inappropriate conduct
- Action negatively impacting the reputation of GOODProjects

Confidentiality

All board members, employees, staff, and volunteers will maintain confidentiality regarding all aspects of operations, finances, human resources, programs, and any other business of GOODProjects. As a condition of employment, GOODProjects requires its employees to protect the confidentiality of its trade secrets, proprietary information, and confidential commercial-sensitive information (e.g., financial or sales records/reports, marketing or business strategies/plans, product development, customer lists, patents, trademarks, etc.) related to GOODProjects. Access to this information should be limited to a "need to know" basis and should not be used for personal benefit, disclosed, or released without prior authorization from management. Anyone who disregards this policy may be subject to disciplinary and/or legal action. Only the Board and Chief Engagement Officer will be responsible for deciding what information will be made public. PR staff and Grant Writers will work closely with these individuals in determining what information can be revealed. All employees are required to sign Confidentiality Agreements prior to their start date. (See Confidentiality Form.)

If you have information that leads you to suspect that employees are sharing such information in violation of this policy and/or competitors are obtaining such information, you are required to inform your supervisor or Human Resources.

You are hereby provided notice that under the Defend Trade Secrets Act of 2016: (i) no individual will be held criminally or civilly liable under Federal or State trade secret law for the disclosure of a trade secret (as defined in the Economic Espionage Act) that (A) is made in confidence to a Federal, State, or local government official, either directly or indirectly, or to an attorney, and made solely for the purpose of reporting or investigating a suspected violation of law or (B) is made in a complaint or other document filed in a lawsuit or other proceeding, if such filing is made under seal so that it is not made public; and (ii) an individual who pursues a lawsuit for retaliation by an employer for reporting a suspected violation of the law may disclose the trade secret to the attorney of the individual and use the trade secret information in the court proceeding, if the individual files any document containing the trade secret under seal, and does not disclose the trade secret, except as permitted by court order.

Conflict of Interest

All board members, employees, staff, and volunteers will avoid any activity in which there could be a conflict of interest. All these individuals will provide, in writing, information regarding their business interests that could be related to operations of GOODProjects to the Board. The Board will be responsible in determining if there is a conflict of interest; if there is not, the program, purchase, or activity can move forward.

COVID-19 Vaccination Policy

For the safety of our employees, the youth we support, and our communities, GOODProjects requires that all employees are vaccinated against COVID-19 unless the employee has been granted a reasonable accommodation based on disability or religion. Visitors and volunteers who wish to access GOODProjects facilities and/or events will be asked to provide a proof of vaccination. (See COVID-19 Mandatory Vaccination Policy.) Employees returning to work after testing positive for COVID-19 must present a negative test before arriving in person.

EMPLOYEE BENEFITS

Medical, Dental, Vision, Life Insurance, and Disability

Full-time and part-time employees working 30+ hours per week, per pay period, are eligible for medical, dental, vision, and disability benefits, as set forth in the provider's plan documents. Part-time staff who consistently work 30+ hours each pay period will be considered fulltime staff after 6 months unless the employee is seasonal, temporary, or the extended work hours are expected to end. Part-time staff working < 30 hours per pay period, temporary staff, and seasonal staff are not eligible for company benefits. With the employee's authorization, premiums for the group medical coverage will be deducted via the employee's payroll deduction.

Eligible employees must opt in to the dental and vision insurance benefits provided by GOODProjects. When an eligible employee opts in, GOODProjects contributes 100% to (i.e., the employee does not pay anything out of pocket towards) the plan for dental and vision insurance for the employee only. If an employee wishes to obtain dental and vision insurance benefits for their dependents, the employee is responsible for paying the associated premiums.

GOODProjects also provides all employees group whole life insurance of up to $25,000, free of charge. Employees have the option to purchase additional life insurance at their expense. Additional information is provided in the plan description, which is provided during orientation, and can be found in the Google shared drive (Employee Information Center).

Participation in GOODProjects's short- and long-term disability insurance plans is available for eligible employees (full-time and part-time employees working at least 30 hours per week), and eligible employees do not pay anything out of pocket toward the plan. Eligible employees must complete the enrollment form to designate beneficiaries. Additional information, including a list of specific benefits, is provided in the plan description, which is provided during orientation and can be found in the Google shared drive (Employee Information Center).

Time Off

Time off consists of a combination of sick, vacation, personal, and other types of leave. The below chart summarizes the available leave, and more detail is provided after the chart.

Type of Leave	How is Leave Granted/Accrued?	What is the Maximum Amount of Leave?
Sick Leave	1 hour (paid) for every 26 hours worked; no maximum number of hours that can be earned per year	Accrued-but-unused paid sick leave carries over from year to year, up to a maximum of 40 hours per year.
Vacation Leave	Reference the Paid Time Off Policy	Reference the Paid Time Off Policy
Personal Leave	2 days (paid) per year	Available personal leave resets at the beginning of each calendar year.
Bereavement Leave	After death of immediate family member, 4 days (paid)	N/A. Employees may use approved vacation leave as additional bereavement leave.
Holiday Leave	Automatically granted for holidays specified below	N/A
Parental Leave	24 hours (unpaid) in any 12-month period for school-related events AND parental leave (partially paid) as provided by the D.C. Paid Family Leave Program	Up to 24 unpaid leave for school-related events in 12-month period AND 8 weeks parental leave in a 52-workweek period
Pregnancy & Disability Leave (Unpaid)	Unpaid leave can be granted as a reasonable accommodation to employees whose ability to perform job duties is limited because of pregnancy or other disabilities.	Requests for pregnancy and other disability leave (and the amount of such leave) are evaluated on a case-by-case basis.
Jury Duty Leave	5 days (paid) per jury service, in accordance with D.C. Code § 15-718.	5 days
Voting Leave	Up to 4 hours (paid) per major election.	4 hours
Military Leave (Unpaid)	Unpaid leave in accordance with Uniformed Services Employment and Reemployment Rights Act of 1994 and applicable state law.	Five cumulative years, subject to USERRA-specific exceptions.

Sick Leave

All employees earn paid sick leave in accordance with state laws, including D.C. Code § 32-531.02. Sick leave is accrued at the rate of 1 hour of paid sick leave for every 26 hours worked, and there is no maximum amount of sick leave that can be earned during a calendar year. (Exempt, salaried employees shall not accrue leave for hours worked beyond a 40-hour work week.) Paid sick leave accrues at the beginning of employment and can be used after 90 days of service with GOODProjects. Only accrued sick leave can be used. Accrued sick leave has no value except for the purpose granted and cannot be used in any other way. Up to 40 hours of sick accrued-but-unused sick leave carries over annually. If an employee separates from GOODProjects, whether voluntarily or involuntarily, sick leave is forfeited.

Use of Sick Leave - An employee may use sick leave in half-hour increments for an absence:

- Resulting from the employee's own illness, injury, or medical condition;
- Resulting from obtaining professional medical diagnosis or care, or preventative medical care;
- For the purpose of caring for a child, parent, spouse, domestic partner, or any other family member;
- For appointments with a licensed doctor, dentist, or other recognized medical practitioner; or
- In accordance with use provisions in the Safety Accommodations and Protections for Victims of Stalking, Domestic Violence, or Sexual Abuse section above.

No employee may give or loan sick leave time to another employee.

Documentation of Sick Leave - Employees are required to notify GOODProjects as early as possible on the first day of their sick leave absence and shall notify GOODProjects in advance whenever the need for leave is foreseeable. Employees shall request use of sick leave using the ADP Time and Attendance My Time Off request. Such forms shall be completed by the employee and approved by GOODProjects in advance of the leave when the need for sick leave is foreseeable, and in all other instances as soon as possible after the employee's return to work. An employee who claims sick leave for more than 3 days may, at the discretion of GOODProjects, be asked to provide GOODProjects with official documentation from a doctor stating the illness or injury, that the employee was unable to work, and that they are now capable of working.

Exhaustion of Sick Leave - Employees who have used all their accumulated sick leave will not receive financial compensation for additional days needed to be absent due to illness or injury. For any additional time needed, the employee will be considered on leave-without-pay status unless the employee requests vacation leave and has their request approved.

Paid Time Off

GOODProjects believes that employees should have opportunities for time away from work. To recognize the varying needs of our employees, GOODProjects provides employees with an annual allotment of paid time off (PTO) to help meet those needs. Employees can use PTO for vacation, personal illness, celebration of holidays that are not designated company holidays, appointments, emergencies, or other personal business that requires time off from work. Requests for time off are expected to be made in writing to Human Resources and the immediate supervisor one (1) week prior. GOODProjects reserves the right to decline requests if they negatively impact the business. All GOODProjects employees can participate in the Birthday policy, allowing staff to have a paid personal day if their birthday falls on a weekday, or select a weekday they would like to be off if the birthday falls on a weekend.

Employee Eligibility - Benefit eligible employees are eligible for PTO based on their length of service as follows:

Length of Service	Annual PTO Days
0 to 4 years	15
5 to 9 years	20
10 to 14 years	25
15 to 19 years	30
20 or more years	35

PTO Accrual - PTO is accrued each pay period (unless state law requires a different accrual method). PTO accrual is based on an employee's length of service, and employees will accrue 1/26th of their annual allowance each pay period as outlined below:

Length of Service	PTO Accrual Per Pay Period
0 to 4 years	.57 days per pay period
5 to 9 years	.77 days per pay period
10 to 14 years	.96 days per pay period
15 to 19 years	1.15 days per pay period
20 or more years	1.35 days per pay period

For part-time, benefit-eligible employees, the per-pay-period accrual is the:

- Scheduled number of hours per pay period ÷ 80, multiplied by the relevant maximum number of PTO days per year for full-time employees ÷ 26 pay periods.

Newly hired employees begin to accrue PTO on their first day of employment. The number of days accrued will be prorated based on the date of hire and the number of pay periods worked during the year.

Employees become eligible for additional PTO at the beginning of the calendar year in which their fifth, tenth, fifteenth, and twentieth anniversaries occur.

Using PTO - The PTO program affords employees the flexibility to schedule time off in accordance with their needs. PTO can be used for a variety of reasons as stated above. Time off that will not be deducted from an employees' PTO bank include the following:

- Company approved holidays;
- Temporary disability;
- Workers' compensation;
- Jury duty; and
- Bereavement leave.

Scheduling PTO - While the program is designed to provide employees with control over their time, it is important to understand that PTO requires planning and scheduling. To the extent possible, employees should notify their immediate supervisor and HR one (1) week in advance of the need for time off so that the Lead can evaluate business needs and plan accordingly.

Employees are encouraged to take PTO in full-day increments; however, smaller time increments may be allowed as follows:

- Nonexempt employees may take PTO in one- to two-hour increments; and
- Exempt employees may take PTO in no less than half-day increments.

PTO may not be converted to any other form of time off, with the following exceptions:

- If PTO is interrupted due to the death of an immediate family member, the employee will be compensated under the GOODProjects' bereavement policy.
- If PTO is interrupted due to an extended illness that qualifies for short-term disability (STD), days classified as STD will be compensated under that policy.

In the above cases, PTO may be rescheduled for another time during the calendar year.

Coordination With Other Leaves - To balance both employee and employer needs, GOODProjects plans to coordinate PTO with other forms of leave as follows:

- If an employee's absence from work is subsequently approved under the STD program, the first five days will be deducted from the annual PTO accrual. Employees on an approved STD leave will continue to accrue PTO during the STD leave. Employees that do not return from STD leave will forfeit PTO accrued during the leave.
- Employees taking unpaid, job-protected leave pursuant to the Family and Medical Leave Act (FMLA) are required to substitute accrued PTO to cover any unpaid portion of the unpaid FMLA entitlement period. In no circumstance, however, shall this policy require employees to use accrued PTO if they have five or fewer days in their PTO bank. Employees may, but are not required to, substitute their entire bank of accrued PTO for any unpaid portion of the FMLA entitlement period.
- Employees are not eligible to accrue PTO during an unpaid leave of absence.

PTO Carryover - Unless state law requires otherwise, employees may carry over a maximum of five days into the following calendar year. If more than five days are left at the end of the year that time will be lost. Carryover days must be used by March 31 of the following year.

Termination of Employment - Unless approved by a manager, PTO may not be used to extend an employee's termination date. Unless state law requires otherwise, employees who leave the company will not be able to receive compensation for unused PTO.

Personal Leave Days

Mental health is essential to our overall health. We want to encourage employees to take a mental health day to reset. Full-time employees will be eligible to use up to two personal days in a calendar year. Employees are encouraged to use this time in 8-hour increments. Personal leave days reset at the beginning of each calendar year. Personal leave days have no value except for the purpose granted and cannot be used in any other way. If an employee separates from GOODProjects, whether voluntarily or involuntarily, personal leave days are forfeited.

Bereavement Leave

Bereavement leave is defined as leave taken when an immediate family member of an employee dies. This time is attributed to funeral plans, attendance, and grieving time. This leave is considered a benefit and is offered to full-time employees. When there is a death of an immediate family member, the employee is allotted 4 paid leave days. An immediate family member is defined as a child, sibling, spouse, parent, or grandparent. Employees may request vacation leave as additional bereavement leave.

Holiday Leave/Religious Observances

GOODProjects offers paid leave for the following holidays for full-time employees:

- New Year's Eve
- New Year's Day
- Presidents Day
- GOOD Friday
- Emancipation Day
- Memorial Day
- Independence Day
- Labor Day
- Indigenous People Day
- Veterans Day
- Thanksgiving Day
- The day after Thanksgiving (Black Friday)
- Christmas Eve
- Christmas Day

The above-mentioned holidays are considered paid days off for employees unless a particular department or program must operate during these days. When an employee must work on a holiday, the organization will inform them at least 7 days prior to this date or as soon as reasonably possible. If an employee is on vacation or sick leave during a holiday, that day will be attributed to the holiday leave policy and will not be taken away from accrued sick or vacation leave.

Employees are entitled to one day of unpaid leave each year on April 16, the District of Columbia's Emancipation Day. An employee who wishes to take this day of unpaid leave must notify GOODProjects at least 10 calendar days in advance of April 16.

In the spirit of anti-discrimination practices, we will allow employees to take off unpaid days to observe bona fide religious holidays unless such an arrangement will cause undue hardship for the organization. The employee must ensure leave forms for religious observances are submitted and approved at least 7 days in advance of the date the leave will be taken.

Floating Holiday

Employees who are required to work on a holiday may then float the holiday hours and use them between when the holiday occurs, and the end of the calendar year. Holiday hours not used by December 31 will be forfeited and will not be paid out.

Parental Leave

In accordance with D.C. Code § 32-521.02, any employee who is a parent shall be entitled to a total of 24 hours leave during any 12 month period to attend or participate in a school-related event for his or her child. Such parental leave is unpaid unless the employee chooses to use any paid family, vacation, or other paid leave that has been provided by GOODProjects.

In addition, as discussed in the District of Columbia Paid Family Leave section below, GOODProjects provides eligible employees up to eight weeks of maternity/paternity—paid at partial salary—to bond with a new child within 52 weeks of the date of birth, adoption, or foster care placement of a child.

Pregnancy Disability Leave

In accordance with the Protecting Pregnant Workers Fairness Act of 2014, pregnancy, childbirth, breastfeeding, or related medical conditions will be treated like any other disability, and an employee on leave will be eligible for temporary disability benefits in the same amount and degree as any other employee on leave.

Jury Duty Leave

Full-time employees are eligible for paid jury duty leave. If an employee receives a notice to attend jury duty, they must submit the documentation to GOODProjects within 7 days of such notice. This documentation must be submitted along with an employee leave request form. In the event an employee must attend jury duty, they will be paid their regular wages for their first five days of jury duty in accordance with D.C. Code § 15-718(c). If jury service is extended beyond that, the employee will be paid for the subsequent time missed. GOODProjects reserves the right to subtract any money that courts pay its employees for their services from their total required wage payment. If an employee would not have worked on the day that they are serving jury duty, they will not be eligible for regular wage compensation for that day.

Voting Leave

Full-time employees are eligible to use leave request forms to request up to 2 hours of paid leave to vote at the polls for any election held under D.C. Code § 1-1001.01 et seq., provided they would have been scheduled to work during the time for which leave is requested.

Military Leave

GOODProjects complies with applicable federal and state law regarding military leave and re-employment rights. Unpaid military leave of absence will be granted to members of the uniformed services in accordance with the Uniformed Services Employment and Reemployment Rights Act of 1994 (USERRA; with amendments) and all applicable state law.

Members of the United States military will be granted time off for the performance of their service duties, including initial training, active duty, inactive duty training and full-time National Guard duty. A copy of military orders must be presented to the Chief Engagement Officer. Time off will be unpaid unless the employee requests use of earned PTO.

Employees must advise their supervisor of their military training schedule as far in advance as possible. Employees with military training obligations will contact their supervisor for specific information regarding organization benefits, if any, provided during military participation, and re-employment notification requirements.

For more information regarding status, compensation, benefits, and reinstatement upon return from military leave, contact your supervisor or Human Resources.

District of Columbia Paid Family Leave

In accordance with the District of Columbia's Paid Family Leave (PFL) Program, GOODProjects will permit employees to use PFL for serious health conditions for both them and their family members, as well as leave to bond with a new child.

Length of Paid Family Leave and Qualifying Reasons

Employees may access paid leave benefits for the following periods of time and qualifying events:

- Family leave, to care for a family member with a serious health condition (up to 6 workweeks in a 52-workweek period);
- Medical leave, for the employee's own serious health condition (up to 6 workweeks in a 52-workweek period);
- Parental leave for the birth of a child, placement for adoption or foster care of a child, or placement of a child for whom the employee legally assumes and discharges parental responsibility (up to 8 workweeks in a 52-workweek period).

- Pre-natal leave for pre-natal medical care for an employee who has been diagnosed as pregnant by a healthcare provider (up to 2 workweeks in a 52-workweek period).

The maximum number of workweeks of paid-leave benefits that an individual may receive during a 52-workweek period is governed by D.C. Code § 32-541.04.

For purposes of the PFL policy, a “family member” includes: a biological, adopted, foster, or step child (including a child of a domestic partner), a legal ward, or someone that a worker acts as parent to; a biological, foster, or adopted parent, a parent-in-law, a stepparent, a legal guardian, or other person who acted as a parent to the worker when the worker was a child; a domestic partner or spouse; a grandparent; or a sibling.

Employees taking PFL to care for a family member with a serious health condition must be present at the same location as the family member or engaged in reasonable travel related to providing care during most of the leave period.

GOODProjects is not required to provide PFL to two employees at the same time to care for the same family member. If time off is provided to both employees, the PFL taken by each employee will be counted toward that employee’s PFL entitlement.

Intermittent Leave

Paid leave may be taken intermittently, and the leave must be taken in 1-day increments. For the purposes of the paid-leave program, 1 day means the average number of hours an eligible individual worked in a shift during his/her base period.

Wage Replacement Benefits

The PFL program is administered by the Office of Paid Family Leave (OPFL) within the Department of Employment Services (DOES). Workers will apply for PFL benefits, receive their eligibility determinations, and receive benefit awards from OPFL. Covered workers will receive benefits determined on a sliding scale based on their reported income, up to a maximum of $1,000 (adjustable annually on October 1 based on the Consumer Price Index) for each week they are on leave.

Requesting Leave

Employees seeking PFL must provide written notice to GOODProjects at least 10 days, or as early as possible, in advance of the paid leave. In the case of an emergency, the individual, or another individual on their behalf must notify GOODProjects, either orally or written, within 48 hours of the emergency occurring.

Benefits

GOODProjects will continue making contributions to employee group health benefits during the leave on the same terms as if the employee had continued to actively work. This means that if employees want their benefits coverage to continue during PFL, they must also continue to make the same premium payments that they are required to make for themselves or their dependents. Failure to make timely payments may result in termination of health insurance coverage.

Return from Leave

Employees are not entitled under the PFL program to accrue employment benefits or obtain seniority during any period of PFL, nor are they entitled to any right, benefit, or position to which they would have been entitled absent the PFL.

Fraudulent Use of PFL

Pursuant to D.C. Code § 32-541.09(a), employees who fraudulently obtain PFL from GOODProjects will be disqualified from receiving PFL benefits for three years and may be subject to disciplinary action, up to and including termination of employment.

PAY PRACTICES

Pay Periods

Payroll will be run through a payroll platform that employees may log into to look at payroll and tax documents as it pertains to their employment with GOODProjects. Pay periods for GOODProjects are bi-weekly. Employees will be paid every other Friday by check or direct deposit. New employees will be paid at minimum three Fridays after their start date and may have to wait to get on cycle with other employees for payroll. W-2 employees will have local and federal taxes withheld. Employees may notify GOODProjects or utilize the payroll platform to add any additional deductions or nuances.

Raises and Bonuses

GOODProjects prides itself in building leaders of the next generation. With responsibility there comes compensation. During employee review periods, employees may be granted raises and bonuses based on their performance and/or a promotion within GOODProjects. Bonuses are only applicable to compensation listed in employment agreements.

Raises and bonuses are at GOODProjects's discretion and are dependent on, among other things, budget availability.

Payment of Wages

If the regular payday falls on a company-recognized holiday, then employees will be paid on the workday before the regular payday. Employees who enjoy the benefit of electronic direct deposit will receive deposit advice on each payday.

Paycheck Deductions

GOODProjects is required by District of Columbia and federal laws to make certain deductions from your paycheck each pay period. Such deductions typically include federal and state income taxes, Social Security taxes, and State Disability Insurance (SDI) taxes. Depending on the benefits you choose, additional deductions may occur. The amount of all deductions will be listed on the employee's pay stub.

The amount of your tax deductions will depend on your earnings and the information you list on your federal Form W-4 and applicable state withholding form. Permissible deductions for exempt employees may also include, but are not limited to, deductions for full-day absences for reasons other than sickness or disability and certain disciplinary suspensions. You may also authorize certain voluntary deductions from your paycheck where permissible under state law. You will be supplied with your Wage and Tax Statement (W-2) form each year. This statement summarizes your income and deductions for the year.

You will be reimbursed in full for any isolated, inadvertent, or improper deductions, as defined by law. If an error is found, you will receive an immediate adjustment, which will be paid no later than your next regular payday.

If you have any questions about deductions from your pay, contact your supervisor or Human Resources.

Reporting Errors and Obtaining More Information

If any employee, exempt or nonexempt, has questions about deductions from his or her pay, believes he or she has been subjected to improper deductions, or believes that the amount paid does not accurately reflect the employee's total hours worked or salary, please contact Human Resources or your direct supervisor. Every report will be fully investigated, and GOODProjects will provide the employee with any compensation to which the employee is entitled in a timely fashion.

GOODProjects complies with all applicable laws, including the Fair Labor Standards Act, and will not allow any form of retaliation against individuals who make good -faith reports of alleged violations of this policy, or who cooperate in an investigation by GOODProjects, even if the reports do not reveal any errors or wrongdoing.

Discussion of Wages

Employees are not obligated, but are permitted, to inquire about, disclose, compare, and/or discuss their wages or the wages of other employees. GOODProjects will not terminate, discipline, or otherwise discriminate against employees because they make such disclosures.

GOODProjects, however, prohibits employees who have regular access to other employees' wage information as part of their job responsibilities, such as a Human Resources representative or supervisor, from sharing such information, unless disclosure is in furtherance of or in response to an investigation, action, or hearing, or the employer otherwise has a legal obligation to furnish the information.

Lunch and Break Periods

GOODProjects will pay full-time employees for lunch or meal periods that are less than 45 minutes. If any lunch or meal period extends past 45 minutes, the employee will be unpaid after the 45th minute until he or she returns.

GOODProjects employees can have two five (5) minute mental health or stress breaks throughout the day. GOODProjects understands the health effects caused by working in a fast-paced environment dedicated to serving those who are less fortunate. These breaks are paid and can be used consecutively as one 10-minute break or consecutively with a lunch or meal period totaling in a 55-minute break period paid. If these two breaks are combined with a meal, employees must let supervisors know to ensure the time is not deducted after the 45th minute.

Expense Reimbursement

Reasonable and customary business expenses incurred in the performance of one's job will be reimbursed within 30 days from the receipt of completed, accurate, and approved business expenses. Reimbursement requires prior authorization by the employee's supervisor. Employees must submit receipts within 30 days of incurring the expense to be reimbursed. Employees should not expect the reimbursement until at least one pay period following the receipt submission.

Commuter Benefits

In compliance with The Sustainable DC Act, GOODProjects offers commuter transit benefits to employees. In addition to the Company Vehicle Usage policy articulated below, GOODProjects provides employees with the option of receiving a pre-tax benefit if they choose to take part in a pre-tax benefit program for use in paying for transportation expenses.

SAFETY AND SECURITY

Our goal is to provide a safe environment, free from all recognized hazards. All employees and volunteers will perform their work in a safe and responsible manner. An injury occurring while on the job, no matter how slight, must be reported immediately to the employee's supervisor. Additionally, we have established other safety and security guidance below.

Workers' Compensation

When work-related accidents, injuries, or illnesses occur, employees may be eligible for workers' compensation insurance benefits. GOODProjects provides a comprehensive workers' compensation insurance program at no cost to employees and in accordance with applicable state law. This program covers most injuries or illnesses sustained in the course of employment that require medical, surgical or hospital treatment. Subject to applicable legal requirements, workers' compensation insurance provides benefits or, if the employee is hospitalized, treatment immediately.

Reporting Work-Related Injury or Illness

Employees who sustain a work-related injury or illness should inform their supervisor immediately. No matter how minor an on-the-job injury may appear, it is important that it be reported immediately. This will enable an eligible employee to qualify for coverage.

Return to Work

Employees who are ready to return to work following a workers' compensation-related leave of absence must supply a certification from a health care provider, confirming the employee's ability to return to work.

We will notify the workers' compensation insurance company if we have reason to believe an employee has supplied false or misleading information in connection with a claim and/or has filed a fraudulent claim. Workers' compensation fraud is a crime and may also be grounds for disciplinary action, up to and including termination of employment.

Smoke Free Workplace

A smoke-free workplace policy has been developed to comply with the District of Columbia's smoke-free health laws that require all establishments and businesses with employees to be smoke-free. These areas include employee lounges, restrooms, conference rooms, employee cafeterias, as well as hallways and vehicles owned by a private employer. Smoking and e-cigarettes are prohibited in all areas of the workplace without exception. This policy is effective at all times unless in designated public smoking areas. Failure to comply with this policy will result in mandatory disciplinary action. Any dispute involving smoking or using e-cigarettes should be handled through GOODProjects's procedure for resolving other work-related problems.

Substance Abuse

GOODProjects intends to help provide a safe and drug-free work environment.

GOODProjects prohibits the possession, sale, consumption, or being under the influence of alcoholic beverages or illegal drugs by employees while in the office, during working hours outside the office, or while on agency business or in an agency vehicle. Any employee found possessing, selling, consuming, or being under the influence of alcoholic beverages while on duty will be subject to discipline, up to and including termination of employment.

Although the use of marijuana has been legalized under some state laws, including the District of Columbia, for medicinal and/or recreational uses, it remains an illegal drug under federal law. GOODProjects does not discriminate against employees solely on the basis of their lawful off-duty use of marijuana. However, you may not consume or be under the influence of marijuana while on duty or at work. If you have a valid prescription for medical marijuana, please contact Human Resources to request an accommodation. GOODProjects will not test a prospective employee for marijuana use until after a conditional offer of employment has been extended, if at all.

Occasional exceptions to this policy against the consumption of alcoholic beverages may be made at GOODProjects's sole discretion for small quantities of such beverages reasonable under the circumstances, usually wine or beer, which may be available at office parties or GOODProjects events. At such parties and events, all personnel are expected to exercise good judgment and moderation. In no event may any underage individual consume alcohol at any time, and all personnel are expected to comply fully with all laws (including laws prohibiting the operation of motor vehicles while under the influence of alcohol), and to take safety precautions including arranging for a designated sober driver.

Any employee who is using prescription or over-the-counter drugs that may impair the employee's ability to safely perform the job, or affect the safety or well-being of others, must notify a supervisor of such use immediately before starting or resuming work while under the influence of such prescription or over-the-counter drugs.

If you have a problem with drugs and/or alcohol and wish to undertake rehabilitation, you can request an unpaid leave of absence for this purpose. It is your responsibility to seek help before the problem adversely affects your work performance or results in a violation of this policy.

Workplace Violence Prevention

The safety and security of employees is of vital importance to GOODProjects. Therefore, we have adopted a zero-tolerance policy concerning workplace violence. Threats or acts of violence—including intimidation, bullying, physical or mental abuse, and/or coercion—that involve or affect company employees or that occur on GOODProjects’s premises, will not be tolerated.

The prohibition against threats and acts of violence applies to all persons involved in the operation of GOODProjects, including, but not limited to, company employees and other personnel, contract and temporary workers, consultants, contractors, customers, vendors, visitors, and anyone else on our premises.

Violations of this policy by an employee will result in disciplinary action, up to and including termination of employment.

It is our goal to have a workplace free from acts or threats of violence and to respond effectively if such acts or threats of violence do occur.

Workplace violence is any intentional conduct that is sufficiently severe, abusive, or intimidating to cause an individual to reasonably fear for his or her personal safety or the safety of his or her family, friends, and/or property such that employment conditions are altered or a hostile, abusive, or intimidating work environment is created for one or several employees.

Examples of workplace violence include, but are not limited to:

- Threats or acts of violence occurring on company premises, regardless of the relationship between the parties involved in the incident;
- Threats or acts of violence occurring off company premises involving an employee if the threats or acts affect the business interests of the GOODProjects; and
- Threats or acts of violence resulting in the conviction of an employee or agent of GOODProjects, or an individual performing services for GOODProjects on a contract or temporary basis, under any criminal code provision relating to violence or threats of violence when that act or the conviction adversely affect the legitimate business interests of GOODProjects.

Examples of conduct that may be considered threats or acts of violence under this policy include, but are not limited to:

- Threatening physical contact directed toward another individual;
- Threatening an individual or his or her family, friends, associates, or property with harm;

- The intentional destruction or threat of destruction of GOODProjects's property or another individual's property;
- Menacing or threatening phone calls;
- Stalking;
- Veiled threats of physical harm or similar intimidation; and
- Communicating an endorsement of the inappropriate use of firearms or weapons.

Employees should help maintain a violence-free workplace. To that end, employees are encouraged to immediately report any incident that violates this policy to a supervisor or manager or Human Resources.

Visitors

Restricting access to the GOODProjects premises helps maintain safety standards, protect against theft, ensure security of equipment, protect confidential information, safeguard employee and youth welfare, and avoid potential distractions and disturbances. For this reason, only authorized visitors are allowed in the GOODLearning Hub and GOODCamp facilities, and all authorized visitors, including friends, family, and former associates, must register with the Operations Manager. All visitors must always be escorted by a GOODProjects employee.

Employees being visited are responsible for the actions of their guest(s). Should a guest of an employee act in such a manner that disrupts the normal working conditions of GOODProjects or threatens the security of GOODProjects and/or its employees, the employee accompanying the guest may be held responsible for the guest's actions and subject to disciplinary action up to and including termination of employment.

GOODProjects reserves the right to verify the contents of packages and briefcases brought onto company premises by visitors.

If an employee suspects or becomes aware of any unusual situation, he or she should immediately notify Security and/or Human Resources.

Background Check Policy

The safety of our employees, youth, community, vendors, and visitors is the priority of GOODProjects. Accordingly, all new hires and volunteers who work with our youth must completely and successfully meet certain background screening criteria as a condition of employment and volunteering, respectively.

SOCIAL MEDIA USAGE

Application

This policy applies broadly to all online blogging, social networking, and other social media (collectively "social media"), recognizing that social media is a continually evolving technology. Social media includes, without limitation, web-based services that allow individuals to: (1) construct a public or semi-public profile within a bounded system, (2) articulate a list of other users with whom they share a connection, (3) view and traverse their list of connections and those made by others within the system, and/or (4) post comments that are accessible by others. The nature and nomenclature may vary from site to site. Some examples include Facebook, Instagram, LinkedIn, Twitter, TikTok, and other “blogs.” The absence or lack of explicit reference to a specific social media site or platform does not limit the extent of the application of this policy.

This policy applies regardless of whether an employee is using GOODProject’s property and systems or personal property and systems to engage in social media. It also applies regardless of whether an employee is engaging in social media during working or non-working time.

This policy does not prohibit any employees’ rights under the National Labor Relations Act to engage in protected, concerted activity, including, without limitation, communications among employees regarding the terms and conditions of their employment.

Permissible Use

Limited and occasional use of GOODProjects’s systems to engage in social media is acceptable, provided that it: is done in a professional and reasonable manner; does not otherwise violate GOODProjects’s policies; is not detrimental to GOODProjects’s property; and does not interfere with an employee’s regular work duties. All use of GOODProjects’s systems is subject to monitoring – employees have no expectation of privacy in their use of GOODProjects’s systems. Employees also have no expectation of privacy in anything they post on public sites, even if done from their personal computers.

Prohibited Use

Employees are prohibited from making public communications, including communications made via social media, that negatively affect the reputation of GOODProjects or bring disrepute in any way to GOODProjects, its partners, its employees, or its clients. Employees also are prohibited from making any discriminatory, disparaging, defamatory, or harassing comments when using social media, or otherwise engaging in any conduct prohibited by GOODProjects’s EEO and harassment policies or law (e.g., defamation, insider trading, copyright, etc.).

Employees also are prohibited from using a false or obscured identity or pseudonym when engaging in social media relating to GOODProjects. Employees must have express, prior authorization to speak on behalf of GOODProjects or to hold themselves out as a GOODProjects spokesperson. Unless employees are expressly authorized to speak on behalf of GOODProjects, employees communicating directly or indirectly about GOODProjects must affirmatively state that they are not speaking on behalf of GOODProjects and that the opinions, views, or facts are their personal opinions and not the official position of GOODProjects. Be clear and write in the first person.

Employees may not use GOODProjects’s logos, trademarks, or other GOODProjects property in connection with any social media activity. In addition, employees are prohibited from engaging in any form of unauthorized sale or marketing of GOODProjects’s products or services through the Internet, social media, or otherwise.

Be Cautious

GOODProjects holds employees who engage in social media to the same high standards applicable to any public communications, such as comments to a TV, radio, or news reporter. Social media use is subject to all GOODProjects's policies, including those protecting the confidentiality of GOODProjects's information, safeguarding GOODProjects's property, and prohibiting any type of employment discrimination or harassment.

Be aware that the comments and images you post online may impact GOODProjects. Employees should be particularly mindful if they disclose on social media that they work for GOODProjects or in any way associate themselves with GOODProjects of the potential risk that viewers may erroneously assume they have authority to speak for GOODProjects or that viewers may form opinions about GOODProjects based on the content of an employee's "personal" blog or Facebook page. For example, it would be inappropriate for an employee to state on a publicly accessible Facebook page that he works for GOODProjects and post pictures on that Facebook page of him or others engaging in unprofessional conduct. Employees have the same responsibilities to exercise good judgment, professionalism, and the duty of loyalty when engaging in social media activities as they would when interacting face-to-face with the public or in other forms of communication.

Use extreme care when communicating with minors or posts likely to be read by minors. Respect copyright, fair use, and financial disclosure laws. Be respectful to our organization, other employees, customers, vendors, and competitors.

Employees should be truthful and exercise discretion and care when engaging in social media. If you wouldn't say it on the air or have a reporter, write it in a column, don't tweet it, post it on Facebook, or post it on any public web page. It is important to always keep in mind that anything posted online is searchable and identifiable. When posting online for any purpose, employees must be aware that the URL from which a comment was posted can generally be identified and ultimately traced back to the author.

Where no policy or guideline exists, employees should use their best professional judgment consistent with the spirit of this policy and take the most prudent action possible. Remember that there are always consequences to what you publish. If you are about to publish something that makes you even the slightest bit uncomfortable, review the suggestions above and think about why that is. If you are still unsure, and it is related to GOODProjects, you should discuss it with your supervisor before posting it. Ultimately, however, you have sole responsibility for what you post to your blog or publish in any form of online social media. You have sole responsibility not only for what you post or publish, but what others post and publish on your social networking site; all the above rules apply to comments and blogs posted by others on your site.

Violations

An employee who violates this policy may face discipline up to and including termination of employment.

COMPANY VEHICLE USAGE

The GOODProjects company vehicle policy gives employees guidelines for obtaining, qualifying for, and using a company vehicle (Van). A “company vehicle” is any vehicle GOODProjects assigns to employees (Van). This policy applies to all employees who use a Van and applies during and outside of working hours.

Qualifying for a company vehicle

Employees may qualify for a Van if they need a vehicle for their daily work, programming for constituents, or are supposed to get use of a vehicle as a benefit.

To be eligible for a Van, employees must submit a copy of their personal vehicle insurance, submit a copy of their driver’s license, submit an official copy of their driving record, and complete/sign the vehicle usage log for each time using the vehicle. Employees are only allowed to drive a Van if they have a valid driver’s license and a clean driving record for at least 4 years.

Defining What a Clean Driving Record and What Eligibility For Vehicle Usage Is

Drivers must have no more than:

- Two at fault accidents
- Three Minor Moving Violations (personal or business)
- Four nonmoving violations, such as:
 - Failure to appear
 - License not in possession
 - No proof of insurance/registration
- Four or more in combination of the above

Drivers must have zero major moving violations such as:

- Driving while suspended/revoked and/or invalid license
- Exhibition of speed – speed contest
- Reckless driving
- Driving under the influence (DUI)
- Vehicular Manslaughter
- Leaving the scene of an accident (Hit and Run)
- Speeding in excess of 100 mph.

GOODProjects may revoke and assign vehicle access at any time for any reason. Upon an employee’s termination of employment with GOODProjects (for any reason), the employee must promptly return the Van. Failure to return the Van is a felony.

Company vehicles for employees with disabilities

GOODProjects will make reasonable accommodations to facilitate company vehicle use for eligible employees with disabilities.

Company vehicle rules

- Always wear a seatbelt while the vehicle is in motion.
- Obey traffic laws in your jurisdiction and be courteous toward other drivers.
- Document driving expenses.
- Monitor gas, tire pressure, and all fluid levels.
- Report any damage or problems to your assigned vehicle immediately.
- Report changes to your driver privileges, such as driver's license suspension, immediately.
- Always lock company cars.
- Bring vehicle to scheduled maintenance appointments.
- Do not drive while intoxicated, fatigued, or on medication that affects your driving ability.
- Do not smoke in any company vehicle.
- Do not lease, sell, or lend a company vehicle.
- Do not use a phone or text while driving. Creating, sending, or receiving a text message while driving is a violation of District of Columbia law and company policy.
- Do not allow unauthorized drivers to use a company vehicle unless required by an emergency.
- Ensure all passengers understand rules of the vehicle.
- Ensure all passengers are wearing a seatbelt.
- Park in a legal spot, outside of ticketing zones.

Employees who violate company vehicle rules are subject to disciplinary actions which may include verbal and written warning, suspension of vehicle privileges, termination of employment, and legal action.

Accidents

- Contact the GOODProjects HR department immediately (Operations or Program Managers). They will contact the insurance provider.
- Follow legal guidelines for exchanging information with other drivers and report the accident to local police if required.
- Do not guarantee payment or accept responsibility without company authorization.
- Take thorough photos of each vehicle at all angles.
- Collect all information including the driver license and insurance information of the other party or parties involved.

GOODProjects Responsibilities

- Ensuring vehicles are safe before assigning them.
- Scheduling regular maintenance.
- Providing car insurance.
- Retiring and replacing vehicles and parts as needed.

What GOODProjects is not responsible for

- Paying fines employees receive while driving company vehicles. Employees are responsible for all fines and tickets incurred while company vehicle is in their possession.
- Making bail for employees who are arrested while driving company cars.

LEAVING GOODPROJECTS

Separation from Employment

Employees of GOODProjects are employed on an at-will basis. This means that employment may be terminated by either party at any time, with or without cause or notice. Nothing in this Handbook is intended to limit or alter the at-will nature of your employment.

Employees may leave GOODProjects for a variety of reasons. Regardless of the reason, we strive to ensure that all separations from employment are handled fairly, efficiently and in compliance with applicable federal and state laws.

Voluntary Termination

A voluntary termination means an employee has made the decision to end the working relationship with GOODProjects. Voluntary terminations include, but are not limited to, written or verbal resignation, retirement (more fully discussed below), and job abandonment. An employee is considered to have abandoned his or her job if he or she fails to return to a job three days and has not notified GOODProjects of his or her intention to resign.

Employees who voluntarily leave GOODProjects are encouraged to provide their supervisor with a minimum of two weeks' notice, ideally in writing, in order to allow a reasonable amount of time to transfer ongoing work. Upon resignation, an employee must return all keys, uniforms, credit cards or other company-issued property.

Employees in good standing who retire or resign from their positions may be eligible for re-hire.

Involuntary Termination

An involuntary termination occurs when GOODProjects decides to end the working relationship with an employee. Involuntary terminations may occur for cause or for reasons other than cause.

Involuntary terminations for cause include, but are not limited to, terminations for violating company policy, misuse or theft of resources, the falsification of information, excessive absence/tardiness, or unsatisfactory work performance.

Involuntary terminations for reasons other than cause include, but are not limited to, a reduction in workforce.

Pay and Benefits Upon Termination

Final wages will be paid in accordance with applicable law. In accordance with Company policy, vacation, sick leave, and floating holidays will not be paid upon termination unless otherwise required by law.

Return of Company Property

Employees are required to return all company property (e.g., computers, vehicles, passwords, uniforms, ID badges, credit cards) that is in their possession or control in the event of termination of employment (including resignation, retirement, or layoff) or immediately upon request. When allowed by law, and in accordance with applicable law, GOODProjects may withhold from the employee's paycheck the cost of any items that are not returned when required. No information belonging to GOODProjects may be copied for the employee's use. GOODProjects may also take all action deemed appropriate to recover or protect company property.

References / Verifications of Employment

All requests for references must be directed to the Human Resources Representative. No other person or department is authorized to release references for current or former employees. Our policy concerning references for former employees is to disclose only the dates of employment and the title of the last position held. If an employee authorizes disclosure in writing, we will also provide a prospective employer with information on the amount of the salary or wage last earned.

Exit Interviews

Before leaving GOODProjects, employees may be asked to participate in a voluntary exit interview. This will provide closure to the employee's employment with GOODProjects and will allow GOODProjects to ensure that it has resolved various administrative matters—including but not limited to providing information and answering questions regarding paid benefits and eligibility to continue some benefits after separation from GOODProjects—and listened to any of the employee's comments or ideas about improving GOODProjects's operations. Your cooperation in the exit interview process is appreciated.

EMPLOYEE ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

I acknowledge that I have received and read a copy of the GOODProjects Employee Handbook (“Handbook”) and that I have read it, understand it, and agree to comply with it. I understand that the Handbook set forth the terms and conditions of my employment with GOODProjects as well as the duties, responsibilities, and obligations of employment with GOODProjects. I also understand that any delay or failure by GOODProjects to enforce any rule, regulation, or procedure contained in the Handbook does not constitute a waiver on behalf of GOODProjects or affect the right of GOODProjects to enforce such rule, regulation, or procedure in the future. I understand that neither the Handbook nor any other communication by a management representative or other, whether oral or written, is intended in any way to create a contract of employment. I agree to abide by and be bound by the rules, policies and standards set forth in the Employee Handbook (and state supplement, if applicable).

I acknowledge that, except where required otherwise by applicable state law, my employment with GOODProjects is at-will, meaning that it is not for a specified period and that the employment relationship may be terminated at any time for any reason, with or without cause or notice, by me or GOODProjects. I further acknowledge that only the Chief Engagement Officer or his or her authorized representative has the authority to enter into an agreement that alters the fact that my employment with GOODProjects is at-will. Any such agreement must be in writing and signed by the Chief Engagement Officer or his or her authorized representative.

I further acknowledge that GOODProjects reserves the right to revise, delete, and add to the provisions of the employee handbook and state supplement, but that all such revisions, deletions, or additions must be in writing. No oral statements or representations can change the provisions of the handbook or supplement. Furthermore, GOODProjects's policy of at-will employment can be changed only as stated in the prior paragraph.

I understand and acknowledge that nothing in this Handbook or in any other document or policy is intended to prohibit me from reporting concerns, making lawful disclosures, or communicating with any governmental authority about conduct I believe violates any laws or regulations. I also understand and acknowledge that nothing about the policies and procedures set forth in this Handbook should be construed as interfering with any employee rights provided under state or federal law, including Section 7 of the National Labor Relations Act.

If I have any questions about the content or interpretation of the Handbook, I will contact Human Resources.

I have read and understand the above statements.
